The Great Outdoors

Dyken Pond Environmental Center Creatures Of The Air: Birds

Saturday, May 29: 1 to 2:30 pm

Youth will learn about the adaptations that make birds unique from all other animals as well as how to identify local birds by sight and sound. We will cover binocular use before taking a short hike to practice out identification skills and to explore habitat. Binoculars are available for loan to all participants.

Pre-Registration is required. The cost is $3.

Rensselaer Plateau Alliance All The Time In The World

Saturday, May 29: 10 am to 1 pm

Poestenkill Community Forest, 200 Legenbauer Road - East Poestenkill.

Discover the history of a place through its geology, with Krysia Kornecki, PhD.

Did you ever wonder why the view on your horizon, the mountain ranges or gentle slopes, are the way they are? Do you ever catch the light reflecting off a stone and wonder what it might be, or how it got there? Do you ever wonder what came before us? Krysia will share some of the basic concepts and tools geologists use to read the evidence of what came before us in the rock record. This outing will help you image major geologic themes and processes, and to write the narrative of the forest's lifespan through deep time in your mind's eyes. Pre-registration is required.
