

Student Honors

The Eastwick Press will again produce our annual Graduation Special covering our area high schools. It will feature class pictures plus candid photos from the graduation ceremonies, as well as graduates' future plans and some of the comments and speeches from the day. Many of our area businesses have participated with messages of congratulations. If you would like to be part of this keepsake edition, the cost is only $50. You may respond by emailing ads@eastwickpress.com.

If you are a parent or family member of a graduate that you would like featured in this issue, the cost is the same, just $50. Email ads@eastwickpress.com for more information.

4-H Teen Council Scholarship Winners

Cornell Cooperative Extension of Rensselaer County 4-H Teen Council Scholarship is a very special award. The money is raised by 4-H'ers to honor and support their own. This year we are excited to announce our three scholarship recipients: Amanda Thrasher received the $1,000 award, and Travis Michel and Stephanie Bradbury have both received a $500 award.

Amanda Thrasher is the daughter of Randy Thrasher and Debbie Gutierrez of Brunswick. She has been a member of Rensselaer County 4-H for eleven years. A current member of Stablemates, Teen Exchange and Ambassador/ Council Teens. She has taken advantage of many state and national experiences and received honors such as the Lohnes Award, to honor her hard work and support of our 4-H Program and being an outstanding role model to her fellow 4-H Members. We wish her luck as she pursues her passion in internal relations and international agricultural trade.

Amanda Thrasher

Travis Michel is the son of Scott and Kelly Michel of Valley Falls. He has been a member of Rensselaer County 4-H for 13 years and is currently a senior at Greenwich Central School. He is a member of the Southern Livestock 4-H Club and primarily shows dairy cattle but also does photography, metal work and plant science projects. Travis has been a captain of the dairy bowl team for the past two years and participant of our Junior Dairy League Program, traveling to represent NY at the National Dairy Conference in 2019. We wish him luck as he pursues his interests in Agricultural Systems and Technology.

Travis Michel

Stephanie Bradbury is the daughter of Robert and Donna Bradbury of East Schodack. She has been a member of Rensselaer County 4-H for 9 years and is a senior at Notre Dame- Bishop Gibbons High School. Stephanie is currently the President of our Ambassador/ Council Teen Club and has taken on many leadership roles while in 4-H. Stephanie also participated in statewide career exploration trips to Cornell University and donated her time to community service projects. We wish her luck as she studies to become a labor and delivery nurse.
