Running for Peace

by Amy Modesti

On a Tuesday morning, along the rolling hills of Brunswick, a peace runner running to Clums Corners with a burning blue torch hands it off to Eastwick Press photojournalist, Amy Modesti, to signify the passing of peace and love in transit.

New York City resident, Natabara Rollosson, was the torch runner. Rollosson, along with two marathon runners, Arpan DeAngelo and Pavaka, stopped at Clums Corners to speak with The Eastwick Press about the Sri Chinmoy Oneness-Home Peace Run that they're involved in and its mission to spread peace.

"Sri Chinmoy was a leader of peace in New York City who tried to inspire through many, many activities such as sports, arts and music. He traveled around the world meeting people and inspiring world leaders as well," said DeAngelo. Sri Chinmoy founded the run in 1987 and along with the formation came a simple message: "World peace begins within the heart of each of us, and that we all have a unique role to play in making our world a true oneness-home."

The peaceful global relay has traversed more than 160 nations, covered over 370,000 miles and has touched many lives through

Demo Day at HVCC

On Tuesday, June 14, Hudson Valley Community College's (HVCC) Gene F. Haas Center for Advanced Manufacturing Skills (CAMS) hosted a Haas Demo Day event to educate incoming high school students and members of the community about the future of American manufacturing. The event included remarks from industry and local leaders, tours of the center led by nationally-recognized technical instructors and machine demonstrations. Prospective students can learn about the college's Advanced Manufacturing Technology (AOS) program and facilities, connect with local manufacturing employers and meet with faculty, advisors and admissions counselors.

Several local school districts and the Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES) were the recipients of Gene Haas Foundation scholarship funding, which provides financial assistance for students interested in manufacturing-based careers.

Submitted by Linda, Roger, David and Bruce Theriault

It is with great pleasure that we honor our parents, Raymond and Beatrice, on their 75th wedding anniversary.

Raymond R. Theriault and Beatrice T. King were married in Waterbury, Connecticut on May 30, 1947. After raising 4 children, the couple moved to Cherry Plain in 1983 where they built a new home and a new life. They enjoy gardening, caring for their property and caring for each other.

We are forever grateful to our parents for their guidance, sacrifices and their devotion to each other.

Garden Day 2022

Garden Day returned to the Brunswick Community Center Saturday, June 4, and with it came some big reveals, new vendors, plant sales and loads of family fun. Visitors interacted with baby goats and ducks, purchased topsoil from Herrington Farms, learned how to make kokedamas, purchased flowers, vegetables and plants, took part in designing kindness rocks and much more.

New Garden Day booths included a local girl scout troop selling cookies, the Rensselaer County Sheriff's Office, Town of Brunswick Town Office, goat petting, Moody's Farms and the Capital District Modern Quilt Guild selling home-made quilts, handbags and table runners. Visitors who purchased tickets in advance could pick up their chicken BBQ dinners to go from Iron Works Grill, on location at the library.

Brunswick Community Library

revealed their brand new community garden, greenhouse and compost station. These three big reveals originated from a 2022 Girl Scout Gold Award project completed by Averill Park resident Isabelle Relyea of troop 1260. Relyea was interested in the environment and growing her own food. The library can produce their own community food and deteriorate waste in an environmentally friendly manner due to their new acquisitions. Currently, the community garden is growing a wide range of vegetables such as carrots, lettuce, eggplant and acorn squash, as well as sunflowers. These new resources are free and open to the public.

According to library board member Anne Poletto, an estimated $750 was raised from plant sales. With beautiful weather and the celebration of spring, this year's festivities were deemed successful.

the gift of peace, love and torch holding within each community, state and nation. The torch has been held in the hands of greats Muhammad Ali, Pope Francis, Queen Elizabeth II and Mother Theresa.

The runners get together and plan their runs out a year and a half or six months ahead of schedule. Sometimes, they'll take a run through Canada and the United States to make it international. Sometimes they run in Mexico or through all fifty states.

Concluding the meetup, the runners were going to Bennington. One other runner who joined Rollososon, DeAngelo and Pavaka post-conversation, took over Rollososon's role and headed east towards Cropseyville. Through June 18, the runners will travel through New York City and Upstate NY, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Boston, MA, Providence, RI, New Haven, CT and back to New York City.

Peace is found within your heart and the only way to spread it to others is being kind. To keep up on where the runners are traveling and learn more about Sri Chinmoy Oneness-Home Peace Run, go to www.peacerun.org.

The $26,000 bid by Diamond Overhead Doors to replace the highway garage overhead doors was approved. The current doors are roughly 50 years old and don't close properly, which makes heating the garage difficult and costly. It will take roughly three months to get the materials, and the funds for the project will come from the American

Pushback After Stefanik Meet and Greet

by Doug La Rocque

Representative Elise Stefanik, whose 21st Congressional District will include a vast portion of Rensselaer County starting in 2023, held a meet and greet at the Brunswick Community Center on Tuesday, May 31 that was quite civil inside, but replete with about 30 protesters outside the building. Ms. Stefanik is a strong supporter of former President Donald Trump and has repeatedly criticized the January 6 Insurrection Public Hearings currently taking place in Washington, D.C. as a “witch hunt.”

These protesters were eventually locked out of the event, because as Brunswick Town Supervisor Phil Herrington told the June 9 Town Council meeting, they became “disruptive” with one individual “attempting to intimidate” those wishing to attend the meet and greet. He described the affair as a “private event” with the standard $150 rental fee paid in advance. Mr. Herrington added if those who did not agree with the Congresswoman just simply wanted to attend without protest, they would have been welcome.

No Politics Allowed?

It was mentioned during the meeting that the by-laws for the use of the Community Center precluded any political events, but it appears to be a gray area as such events (including a debate between NYS Assembly candidates sponsored by The Eastwick Press) have been held there in the past. Supervisor Herrington said he offered the Brunswick Democratic Committee the opportunity to hold a meet and greet at the Community Center as well, but it was already booked for the date they hoped for, and according to Committee Chair Jennifer Mann, they will now pass on the offer.

Double Nickels Mean Double Trouble for Some

Those who spent a lot of time on our roadways sometimes refer to the 55 mile per hour speed limit signs as “double nickels.” A group of Brunswick Road (NYS Route 2) residents feel that is just too fast, speaking in particular about the section of the highway just west of the hamlet of Eagle Mills near Shine Road. They indicated they have sent a petition to the NYS Department of Transportation requesting the speed limit be lowered to 40 mph to match the sections of the road on either side of the 55 mph stretch. The Councilors passed a resolution in support of the petitioners.

Election Site Changes

There will be new polling places for the June 28 primary. Both the Brunswick Fire Company and Keyes Lane sites will be closed, so voting for those who normally cast their ballots at the Fire House will instead be at the Eagle Mills Fire House. Those who vote at the Keyes Lane site will instead be cast their ballots at the Brunswick Town Hall. Early voting at the Town Hall will take place between Saturday, June 18 and Sunday, June 26.

Play Ball...or Not

One resident complained about a wiffle ball league, replete with lights and some concessions, taking place in the Village Drive area and allegedly disrupting the normal neighborhood way of life. Supervisor Herrington indicated he had conversations with the organizer who he claims basically stood by his right to do so. Whether these conversations had anything to do with it or not, the league has reportedly moved to North Greenbush.

There's a New Superintendent in Town

The Councilors appointed Michael Bayly as the new Highway Superintendent effective June 15, for a term to expire on December 31, 2023. He replaces the retired Terry Scriven, who was employed by the department for 34 years. The Council also passed a resolution thanking former Superintendent Scriven for his service and dedication to the Town.

Historian Steps Down

Sharon Zankel has been the Brunswick Town Historian for 28 years, but at this evening's meeting she announced she will be stepping down from the post. In her report she outlined some of her more memorable moments as Historian and said she “has been proud to represent Brunswick.” Her replacement was not announced at the meeting.

Naturae Court Case Nears End

by Doug La Rocque

For over a year the Town of Hoosick has been involved with complaints by neighbors about both an odor and appearance problems at the Naturae LLC facility on NYS Route 67 in North Hoosick. The Town began legal proceedings to shut the operation down, citing a lack of compliance on the part of the owners. The court action was delayed, however, because of the pandemic.

After the Monday, June 13 meeting, Town Attorney Jonathan Schopf tells The Eastwick Press, a tentative disposition of the case has been reached, but the details cannot be released until that disposition has been approved by Town Court. Mr. Schopf says he and Codes Enforcement Officer Lloyd Moses met onsite with the ownership and their legal representation and were able to hammer out the proposed agreement.

Veterans Exemptions

The Councilors approved Local Law #2, which amended some of the veterans tax exemption criteria. At a recent public hearing, Town Assessor Tony Rice assured all those impacted it was more of a procedural move, and that no one would be losing their exemptions.

100 Years of Cheney

Cheney Library Representative Kay Powers informed the Town that the institution would begin its 100th year celebration in October and urged Town residents to watch for a plethora of event announcements to mark the special occasion.

Speaking of celebrations, the Hoosick Falls Fire Department will be marking its 175th anniversary with a parade and other special events on Sunday, July 3.

Let's Go for a Swim

It was announced at the meeting that the Town of Hoosick Pool will officially open on June 27 and that the Town's Summer Camp program is already filled up.

Another recreational aspect for the Town is the basketball court. Councilwoman Jackolyn Houghton has been looking into a lighting upgrade and hopes to have more information shortly. She cited both safety and security concerns as the impetus behind her research.

It Was a Horrible Fire

New Town Historian Rick Ferrannini talked about the State Line Bridge fire of 1885, how it was apparently sparked by a passing train, and eventually claimed the lives of four fighters who battled the flames. It was also announced that the Gooding Farm on NYS Route 22 in Eagle Bridge is being considered for nomination to the National and State Registers of Historic Places.

Highway Happenings

Superintendent Paul Hoag reported the two employees working toward obtaining their CDL license have completed the classroom training portion of the program and will soon be involved with the "In the Cab" segment of the training procedure. After review of an accounting error, all eligible CHIPS monies have been claimed and received. There was more discussion on the National Grid Demand Metered Service Notice (actually a warning the Town highway garage could be charged more because of higher kilowatt usage) but that the utility does have inspectors available to help with reducing the excessive power demand. The Council wants to look into accepting that offer.

It is hoped Town residents who are eligible will start seeing payments as part of the PFOA Class Action suit in July. These payments have been delayed in part because of the number of fraudulent claims submitted. Look for a Continued on page 8

HOOSICK FALLS

Process to Replace Former Police Chief Ashe Beginning

by Doug La Rocque

Former Hoosick Falls Village Police Chief Bob Ashe was suspended in December of last year after it was revealed he was under investigation by the NYS Police as part of a ballot-fraud allegation. Chief Ashe resigned his post on Friday, May 13 and three days later pled guilty to a misconduct charge in Village Court. Since that time, Officer Paul Aleksonis has been Officer in Charge running the day to day operations. Following the Tuesday, June 14 meeting of the Board of Trustees, The Eastwick Press spoke with Mayor Rob Allen about the status of the replacement efforts. He told us the Board has been having discussions about it, and is ready to move forward with the search and/or any other options that might be brought to the table. At the meeting, Trustee Kevin O'Malley disclosed that revisions to Civil Service Law dictate any new Police Chief must be a full-time appointment (Chief Ashe was considered part-time). The Trustees also discussed looking into obtaining sample contracts that might be used for any replacement candidate.

Resignations

At the meeting, the Trustees accepted the resignations of four part-time officers from the Police Department, those being Justin Ashe, Thomas Bass, Nicholas Colaneri and Cory Wagner. Asked if this draws down coverage for the Village, Mayor Allen said no, that other officers have stepped up by taking on more hours.

Officer Aleksonis also stated at the meeting he is considering other applicants to send to the Police Training Academy and is open to any other potential inquiries.

Review Board Appointments

In April of last year, the Trustees met a State requirement to put a review and reform procedure in place for any municipality that has a Police Department. They accomplished that by deciding to form a Police Review Board and since that time have been honing their role, responsibilities and what, if any, administrative decisions they would be capable of making.

In the final draft, the name was changed to Civilian Review and Reform Board (CRRB) and the Trustees instituted a confidentiality agreement holding that members of that Board would not be allowed to discuss any matters before them except with other Board members or as required by court order. The CRRB will be made up of five members, four of which were appointed at the meeting, those being Jasen VonGuinness, Doug Sauer, Tris Bloomer and David Borge. One more member will be appointed at a later date. It was agreed the CRRB would have no disciplinary authority.

Bond Revisions

Mayor Allen presented two resolutions changing the term limits on two previous approved bonds. The first involved a $161,650 five year bond for the Leachate Collection at the landfill site, giving the Village the option of extending it to 20 years. That was approved by a 6-1 vote, with Trustee O'Malley casting the lone negative ballot. The second resolution involved extending the $19,271 bond for the Sewer Vac Truck to 15-years. Many Trustees felt this was too long, as they might be still paying for the vehicle long after its usefulness has passed. That resolution failed with six negative votes, Mayor Allen the lone yes vote.

Unsafe Structure

Codes Enforcement Officer Mark Surdam expressed concern about a building at 59 Church Street, where he says part of the roof has blown off and is separating from an exterior wall. The Board passed a resolution ordering its repair and discussed the possibility the Village may have to take on the project and bill the owner through a tax levy.

Unhappy Residents

A couple that appeared before the Board last month discussing noise issues with their neighbor were back, again indicating they feel they are the victims of harassment. Several Trustees have been discussing the noise ordinance that might have some teeth with Town Attorney Andy Gilchrist and hope to have more info for their July meeting.

Jim Martinez was also back expressing his concern about the placement of propane tanks near his building and parking area, complaining a promised response from the Mayor was never forthcoming. Codes Enforcement Officer Mark Surdam had an "expert" consultant look at the placement and lack of bollards, but never received the report. Mayor Allen has promised there will be movement on the issue by the next meeting.

ARPA Monies

After some back and forth as to what projects to fund with the remaining monies in the first installment of the American Rescue Plan Act, the Trustees decided to accept a bid from Goldstein Construction of Petersburg for the Wood Park Gazebo rail replacement project. The bid was for $8,510 and is for vinyl railings. Funding a parking study for the Village was put off until the second round of ARPA funding is received, hopefully in July, and $10,000 was earmarked for Hoosick Rising tourism related and economic development efforts.

Juneteenth

The Village is giving employees Monday, June 20 off to mark the new National Holiday of Juneteenth. Mayor Allen will work with union representation as it applies to those who fall under the collective bargaining agreement.

Class of 2022 Parade

Once again, we are planning a graduate recessional parade immediately following graduation on Friday, June 24. The parade will begin around 7:15 pm, but will be dependent on when the graduation ceremony has concluded. The parade will be led by area emergency service vehicles who will be escorting our senior class in their cars from Walter B. Howard Elementary School to the Junior/Senior High School to symbolize their educational journey in our district. Community members are invited to park their cars along Route 20/22 to cheer on our graduates. At the high school, the student parade will be met with teachers from both buildings with signs celebrating their successes. We thank you all for coming out in years prior as we work to make this an annual tradition in honor of our graduates. Please come out and show your support for New Lebanon's Class of 2022.

EAST NASSAU

Board of Trustees Highlights

by Denise Wright

The June 8 meeting of the East Nassau Board of Trustees was brief but busy. The Board discussed everything from name changes for a Village road to emergency 9-1-1 signs for Village residents.

Hill Road near Route 66 and 20 has been the source of confusion for some delivery drivers. According to GPS satellites, the road is identified as Old Gale Hill Road. Mayor Acquario will check with the County to see what process needs to be followed to rename the road.

The Highway Superintendent, Mike Dorr, reported that the roads were in good shape, and mowing will begin next week. The Code Enforcement Officer has been dealing with rubbish issues on Webster Hill Road and US Route 20. The Route 20 issue has been closed while Webster Hill is ongoing. A complaint regarding a residence on Route 66 is being itemized, and an order will be sent. Inspections and permits for new construction projects on Route 20 and Gardner Hill Road were also completed.

Signs for Village residents for their homes are being finalized. Mayor Acquario estimates that the Village will need 45 single-sided and 85 double-sided signs, which will adhere to the New York State code with 4" numbers. The mayor hopes that some of the Village ARPA funds will be able to be used for this project, and he hopes to have information to residents over the summer.

The Climate Smart Committee report by Trustee Lydia Davis reported that the Village ninebarks are flowering. According to Davis, fifteen ninebark plants were planted in public places throughout the Village. Some Committee members planted more throughout the Village on their own initiative. The Committee contributed to a discounted price for Village residents ordering their own — Davis was happy to report that residents ordered over 50 Ninebarks. The goal of this program was to encourage the planting of native plants to help support native pollinators.

Mayor Acquario and historian Tom Kernan discussed a potential restoration of the Village's old one-room schoolhouse on Central Nassau Road. Trustees felt it would be worthwhile for Village residents to have something they can see that pertains to the Village's history. Board members realize that it will take several years of fundraising but hope that the façade of the building can be rebuilt. As it progresses, they hope to get some expertise from Eastfield Village on how to move with the project. The Clerk reported that Kathy Sheehan had a picture of the schoolhouse to use as a guide.

Cemetery Road Repairs

In recent years, the roads that wind through the beautiful Cemetery of the Evergreens have deteriorated to the point where the Board of Trustees was facing a major expense to repair them. However, two local companies have taken care of the problem and are donating the work to the Cemetery. Jude Clemente, President of Troy Sand and Gravel, and Joe Darcy of Darcy Construction partnered to provide all of the equipment, materials and labor to fix the roads. Long-time friend of the Cemetery Pat Slattery also donated his labor during the project. Cemetery Superintendent Ed Godfroy coordinated the effort. The Trustees thank all of these contributors for this gift to the Cemetery.

EAST NASSAU

Solving A Mystery

by Denise Wright

The Village of East Nassau is looking to residents in an effort to solve a mystery. For approximately the past 10 months, the flag on the unofficial Village green in the Hamlet of East Nassau has been lowered. The flag has been raised several times, but it keeps getting dropped without explanation. Officials would like the person lowering it to notify the Village Clerk at Clerk@villageofeastnassau.org with a reason why and to follow proper flag etiquette protocols. Mayor Adam Acquario commented that the Village has "become the Village of perpetual mourning, and while we respect those who have passed, I'd like to think there is a time for paying respect and a time to stand tall and proud, not year-round mourning."

RENSSELAER COUNTY

Special Congressional Election Candidates Picked

by Doug La Rocque

Two weeks ago, when former 19th Congressional Representative Antonio Delgado was named New York State's Lt. Governor, Governor Kathy Hochul set Tuesday, August 23 as the date for a special election to replace Mr. Delgado. Earlier this month, the Democratic Party nominated Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan and on Friday, June 10, the Republican Party picked Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro (a former gubernatorial candidate). The winner of this contest will represent the current 19th district until the end of the year. The 19th includes many portions of Rensselaer County.

Whoever the winner is will only represent the district for about 4 months, as the newly drawn congressional lines take effect on January 1, 2023. All of Rensselaer County except the western side will become part of the 21st district, currently represented by Elise Stefanik.

Another interesting twist in this topsy turvy election year is that on the very same day voters are choosing a new representative for the 19th district, Democrats will also be voting in a Congressional primary to a pick a candidate for the new 21st district. Matt Castelli and Mathew Putorti are on that ballot. The winner will face off against Representative Stefanik in November for the right to represent most of Rensselaer County in the new year. Troy remains in Representative Paul Tonko's 20th Congressional district.

Join the Agricultural Stewardship Association (ASA) on Thursday, June 23, from 6:30 to 8 pm at Laughing Earth Farm for a walking tour with farmer Annie Metzger.

Annie will talk about successful livestock management practices they have developed and how the farm landscape shapes their decisions. Annie, her husband Zach and their staff produce certified organic eggs, chicken, pork, beef, vegetables and flowers on their conserved 175-acre farm east of Troy.

This program is free to all, however advance registration is required. Please register online at www.agstewardship.org/events or call 518-692-7285.

Just Strolling

American Black Bears (Ursus americanus) live in our area forests. Their average lifespan in the wild is 18 years. In summer, they like to eat berries and insects such as bees and ants. This one was photographed last week by Trix Niernberger's trail camera in the deep woods of Petersburg.

The Life of George Holcomb

Mid-Summer Visiting

Saturday, July 3, 1852: Today I and John F. and Irish John hoed on the hill potatoes on the Maxon farm. Tonight I paid my hired man Irish John one dollar and twenty five cts cash and he walked into Lebanon and bought him a pair shoes.

Sunday, July 4: Today I and John F. took the one horse wagon and rode to Lebanon to the Shakers to their meeting and this afternoon my family went to the Lecture Room to meeting.

Monday: I hoed in the garden and mended fence and the Irishman John hoed John F. potatoes on the Maxon farm. Geo P. and Charlotte E went to Berlin to picnic and in the evening Geo P. and Sarah O and Miss MacMurray, they went to Pittsfield to the fireworks.

Thursday: Today I took my one horse wagon and carried my wife to Pittsfield on a visit, we stayed to brother F. J. Wylie's tonight. Today John F., my son, and Irish John began to hay. Today an uncommon hot day.

Saturday: I and my wife returned home from Pittsfield. We called in the village and I paid two dol 34 cts for a keg mackerel and I paid to Benjamins and Hands twenty cents for two faucets, fourteen cents for one pound coffee and twelve cents for one pound tobacco, and we called to Lebanon to N. Nichols store and paid 12 cents for one pound ginger. We got home at four o'clock and I worked getting up hay a spell.

Monday: I this forenoon ground a new scythe for the Irishman John and I mowed and he mowed with me and we cut up and carried in our turnip seed what we had a poor crop, it was too dry weather. This afternoon brother F. Jay Wylie from Pittsfield visited us, he fetched his two oldest daughters and left them on a visit. He left Cornelia to Simeon's and Elizabeth to my house and he returned home this evening, and this evening my sister Miriam Campbell and her son Henry came on a visit from New Hartford. They came on the cars, and Henry walked from Lebanon and Geo P. went to Lebanon with a one horse wagon and fetched his aunt Miriam to my house.

Thanks From the Schindler Family

We would like to thank all those who paid their respects to Ed, from near or far, for all the cards and flowers we received, and most especially for all the prayers. We also thank Rev. Trygve Tomlinson for his spiritual guidance, the Berlin Fire Department for the Honor Guard, the Patriot Guard Riders for their escort, the U.S. Army for their moving American Flag ceremony and for the playing of Taps by Richard McNally. We also appreciate the kindness of the Hall & Higgins staff.

With love, the Schindler family.
